Christchurch Tram re-opening

Christchurch Tram re-opening from Queen's Birthday weekend

Christchurch Attractions, operator of the Christchurch Tram, are excited to announce the re-opening of their iconic tramcars from Queen's Birthday weekend.

The Christchurch Tram will be open between 10am and 4pm daily from Saturday 30 May with two trams operating every 20-25 minutes. Children ride for free on the trams, and adult tickets will be available to purchase from the Christchurch Attractions website, from the Cathedral Junction Tram Shop or on board. Christchurch Tram tickets are valid for one calendar day, allowing customers to explore central Christchurch and support the many local businesses in the city centre. The last tram will be departing from Cathedral Junction at 3pm each day.

Proudly New Zealand owned, Christchurch Attractions has changed their operations under COVID-19 Alert Level 2 and has systems in place to keep guests safe and ensure compliance with the health directives from the New Zealand Government. More comprehensive information regarding these new procedures will be available later in the week.

Christchurch Attractions looks forward to welcoming customers on board the Christchurch Tram this weekend.

About the Christchurch Tram

Christchurch Tram's heritage tramcars offer a unique way to explore Christchurch's inner city. Operating since 1995, the trams offer live commentary from your friendly driver along the 4-kilometre circuit. Your all-day ticket allows you to discover the delights of the central city at your leisure with stops at Christchurch's major sights including Canterbury Museum and Botanic Gardens, Arts Centre, Art Gallery, The Terrace and Riverside Market and New Regent Street. Eco-friendly and Qualmark Gold accredited, the Christchurch Tram is a must-do activity on any visit to the city. See www.christchurchattractions.nz for further information about this iconic activity.
